The Baltimore Police Commissionere. BALTIMORE, MD, Nov. 5 - Attrine o'clock Judge Bartol, Associate Judge of the Court Circuit Court, and took his seat on the bench, sitting in Bank, ready to receive the return upon the write of habeas corpus. At a lew minutes past nine Judge Bartol enquired if the writs had been served upon the Warden of the jail. Mr. Latrobe, in behalf of the Commissioners, announced that the writs had been served at 7 o'clock this morning, and added he had just learned that the Warden of the jail had been at the Court House this morning about 9 o'clock, without the prisoners; that in reply to an icquiry made of him he had said his means of conveyance were exhausted, and that he had come hither to get a supply. Mr. Latrobe added in a sarcastic strain that he thought there were other hack stands much nearer to the jail than the Circuit Court room. He would not say whether this was or was not merely a continuation of the efforts of the other side to consume time; he did think, however, it looked like it. Judge Bartol reminded the counsel that the Warden was not obliged to make a return instantly; bis return A shoot states if coand

Mr. Schley said he considered that the inter est of the law in that particular, was that three days should be the utmost limit, and that unless there was some unavoidable impediment, he (the warden,) was bound to produce the prisoners without delay. Judge Bartol said the writs were issued by him at five o'clock on Saturday evening, but it appeared that for some reason they were not served until this morning. Mr. Schley begged that the court would wait a reasonable time further for the warden to make his return, and produce the prisoners.

TEN O'CLOCK .- Court still waiting, prisoners not yet brought in. COURT ROOM 11 A. M .-- After some further waiting, the prisoners not appearing, Mr. Hoxwitz, on behalf of Sheriff Thompson, said, "we have now waited one hour and a half after the hour named for the return of the writ." It was apparent that the warden was seeking pretexts to delay. He had come to the Court House early with prisoners for the Criminal Court, which did not meet for an hour or more after this Court and had not brought the prisoners on whose behalf the writ of habeas corpus had been issued. It was frivalous in him to say that he had not sufficient room in his conveyance to bring them, but he added, they were not without a remedy. The law made it the duty of the warden to make a prompt return or show some good and sufficient reason for delay. He therefore had, on behalf of his client the high Sheriff, prepared a petition that his Honor would comsheriff. Mr. Schley said he would on behalf his clients have a similar petition to offer. Mr. Alexander, counsel for Commissioners, now appeared and expressed a desire to be heard on the subject. He understood the warden of the jail was now in consultation with counsel and he had no doubt some return would shortly be made. Messrs. Schley, Latrobe and Horwitz, desired to know if Mr. Alexander could inform
